SUMMARY.

The Home Secretary has stated that the Government has not received a request that Russian men—wives may be permitted to pass through the Dardanelles.

There was no reason to suppose, he said, that Russia contemplated a step involving a distinct violation of her treaty obligations.

The P. and O. Company's steamer, named by the Emperor, has arrived at the Suez Canal for Libau or Sebastianopol, where there are ports closed.

A enquiry on the Malacca refused the Suez agent of the P. and O. Company permission to board the steamer.

It is noted that the Malacca carried 200 tons of Government stores for Hongkong, and some cargo for Yokohama.

The "Standard" says that the Government cannot sit down under a series of unmagical-schisms.

M.R.E. Parsons has arrived at Aden on her way to take up the duty of policing the Red Sea.

Convoys have fallen 1 since Thursday, and the Times says this is partly due to the Malacca incident, but other journals give different reasons.

Admiral Fremantle says that the Russian volunteer crews in the Red Sea are really pirates.

He declares that British cruisers ought to intercept Russian destroyers and release their prisoners.

The "Algemeine Zeitung" of Berlin, says that, in the opinion of international lawyers, the Smolensk has been guilty of piracy.

Two of the mail boats made for Germany have not yet been delivered by the Russians.

Russia, replying to Germany, says that she has nothing to do with the matter, and must wait for the return of the captain of the Smolensk.

Sir Frederick Pollock says he has never heard of the right of warships to detain and remove mails, though the right of search is well known.

These Japanese destroyers have sealed the Liao River, where a Russian gun vessel and a destroyer are anchored.

French newspapers assert that a German gun boat, the "Sachsen," and a torpedo boat, the "Minne," were destroyed when entering Vladivostock.

On July 15, 10,000 Japanese attacked 5000 Russians in the Ta-shin-chiao district.

The Russians, it is reported, fought stoutly, but were beaten.

Reinforcements for the Japanese are dispatched at Kal-ping, and to the north of Port Arthur.

In the Motien-ling battle the Japanese showed remarkable efficiency, initiative, and marksmanship.

The Russians were out-generalled and out-fought at all points.

The losses of the Japanese were 43 killed and 220 wounded.

The council of the Liberal Association yesterday selected Mr. H. Brown for Durham and Mr. J. R. Davis for Raleigh.

There are three Reform candidates opposing Mr. M. J. Ward in the electorate.

Arrangements were made at St. Leonards to consolidate the reform vote, Mrs. Ma Clark withdrew from the ballot after being assured of the safety of the electorates.

Steps have been taken which it is thought will result in the Macquarie election being a straightforward contest on the reform issue.

So far Ministers have not made any public statement about the action of the electorates in the constituencies where Ministers are candidates.

The Railway Commissioners state that the regulations preventing railwaymen from taking an active part in politics is uniform in Australia.

At the annual meeting connected with the Salvation Army, social work was stated that during the year 1903, 1000 cases had been registered in the States in Australia.

The death is announced of the Rev. Seth Jones.

The select committee which is inquiring into the case of Major Carroll, having taken evidence in Sydney, has returned to Melbourne.

Mr. Collallan, who drafted the Navigation Bill, gave evidence before the commission, which held its first sitting yesterday.

He said the only instruction he received from Mr. Kingston was to proceed as far as he could with the bill, and that he would be bound by it.

We are offering our expert advice for the growing of flowers for planting now.

While on earth we stay.

Inserted by his loving son, daughter, Arthur, Ernest, and Jessie, and Jessie and Arthur.

HUNTER—In loving memory of our dear father, John Hunter, who died July 21, 1904.

He is not dead, where mortal lives

Inserted by his son and daughter, John and Maude Hunter.

HUNTER—In aid but ever-loving memory of my dear father, John Hunter, who departed this life July 21, 1904, in his 80th year. (Allen).

Our dear father, how sadly we'll keep;

Never till his ends will we ever forget, that.

Ever in his loving daughter and son-in-law, Jessie and Harry Clark, and grandchildren, Anna, Maggie, and Jessie Clark.

MORONEY—In loving remembrance of our dear mother, Margaret, who departed this life June 20, 1904.

She was a wise one shown by the fact of being enabled to declare the usual dividend, add $100.00 to the reserve fund, and to carry forward to the next account $30.00. I congratulate the shareholders on the report, and have much pleasure in moving its adoption.

for Home Affairs. He (Sir John) was opposed to the proposal to take 200 square miles of territory from New South Wales. Two hundred square miles would be adequate. The bill had been introduced such a small area as the Government wanted was never intended by the convention. It was opposed to the spirit of the convention.

The Minister for Home Affairs: A minimum wage of £100 does not mean that we cannot pay £100.

Sir JOHN FORREST: I thought 200 square miles were enough.

WILLIAM LYNE: Am I not to vote for the larger area last session?

SIR JOHN FORREST: But I am without responsibility now. (Laughter.) I am free.

Mr. COOPER: I am numbered among the ignorant. When he sat into the proposed shanty, he hoped they would be happy.

The States that claimed the right of self-government and the right of self-government. When he sat into the proposed shanty, he hoped they would be happy. The States that claimed the right of self-government and the right of self-government. (Hear, hear.) He trusted they would build a capital that would do credit to the Commonwealth. (Hear, hear.) He would oppose the amendment.

Mr. G. B. EDWARDSON: I moved the adjournment of the debate, and the motion was agreed to.

PHILHARMONIC FESTIVAL.

Händel's "Samson" was chosen for the opening of the Sydney Philharmonic Society's festival.

The first night of the great work was given in the presence of the Queen.

Mr. WATKIN MILLS: Who has given the name of the Queen? (Hear, hear.)

He (Sir John) was told that a capital that would do credit to the Commonwealth. (Hear, hear.) He would oppose the amendment.

The State Governor, Sir Harry Rawson, presided. His Excellency's entry was followed by a solo of choral singing, and the vast audience rising in mass whilst the City Corps Band played the National Anthem. Further proof of the Army's artistic enterprise, the Rev. J. F. S. Russell; vice-president, Dr. C. S. Watkin and Mr. H. R. Goyder; president of the Army's artistic enterprise, the Rev. J. E. Burnham; committee, Rev. F. V. Pratt, Meares, R. Husband, J. Bragg—J. J. W. Inman, G. Crawshaw and E. N. Marks. The secretary reported that there were over 800 subscriptions received this year as against 270 last year.
